THE ARTS, HANCOCK COUNTY
presents
The 17th Annual Arts Alive

Welcome to the 17th Annual Arts Alive! Festival in Old Town Bay St. Louis. This year's festival, expanded to 2 days, features over 50 area artists and performers from across the region. The Makerspace features hands on activities integrating Art with STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math). Check out live music and performers at the Courthouse Community Stage.

Arts Alive! Is produced each year by The Arts, Hancock County and dedicated volunteers. With the efforts of the local arts community and its supporters, this once small event has grown exponentially, attracting visitors and artists from all across the Southeast.

Arts Alive! is centered in the heart of Old Town Bay St Louis, historically recognized as an arts community. This walkable, seaside venue offers galleries, shops, and restaurants with a FREE parking garage (122 1/2 Court Street).

To get updates from The Arts, Hancock County and info on this year's and future Arts Alive! events, be sure to follow us on Facebook (@hancockcountyarts) and Instagram (@hancockarts). You can also check out our website at hancockarts.org.

JOAN ADAMS
Clay : Serenity Clay Studios Century Hall, 112 S. 2nd St.
serenityclaystudios@yahoo.com

A native Californian now living in MS. Much of my work is recovery based and or inspirational. Due to the fact that I am 6 years clean and sober. What keeps me going in all aspects of my life is giving my art meaning. Having that personal connection with my customers that purchase one of my sculptures is extremely rewarding.

MICHELLE ARNOLD
Watercolor : Moonshine Bluebirds
 Smith & Lens, 106 S. 2nd St.
moonshinemicky@gmail.com

I paint mainly in watercolor, but also use charcoal and pen. I focus mainly on portraiture of people and pets, but also like to branch out into wildlife. I am located in a coastal area and am greatly influenced by the beautiful land and wildlife in the area.

LAUREN AUTIN
Fiber : the original 2DYE4.com
 The French Potager, 213 Main St.
lauren2dye4@yahoo.com

Every product we sell is crafted by our hands, 100% natural and colorfast. Our designs are limited only by your imagination and how many times it's humanly possible to tie, fold, pleat, wrinkle, and otherwise artfully mutilate fabric.

STEVE BARNEY
Clay : Creative Arts Center
 Makerspace at 2nd & Main Sts.
barney sbarney@gmail.com

Steve is Director of the Bay St. Louis Creative Arts Center, a multidisciplinary community Maker Space where he makes mugs for Lazy Magnolia Brewery. On weekends, Steve masquerades as the Mad Potter at events across the region.

ANN ADELE BLACKLEDGE
Mixed Media : The Blue House
 Makerspace at 2nd & Main Sts.
aablackledge@yahoo.com

Ann Adele Blackledge is an experienced local artist and educator. She has been teaching private lessons, workshops and public school art classes for 26 years. She has attended numerous art conferences and received a variety of awards. Her work has been extensively exhibited in museums and galleries.

MARTHA WHITNEY BUTLER
Florals : The French Potager
 The French Potager, 213 Main St.
mwbutler24@gmail.com

Floral designer Martha Whitney Butler creates unique, eye-catching arrangements and designs in her little shop, The French Potager, on Main Street in Bay St. Louis. Butler specializes in botanical installations and floral adornments, such as jewelry and flower crowns. While a full-time florist and antique shop owner, she manages to create lively, artistic floral movements like her installation at Smith & Lens Gallery called "Un Beau Bazaar".

HOLLY COIA
Mixed Media - 3D
 Social Chair, 201 Main St.
hollybcoia@gmail.com

Holly Coia is a retired art teacher who has recently relocated to Bay Saint Louis. She studied Illustration at Moore College of Art and Design, Philadelphia, PA, and Art Education at Kutztown University of Pennsylvania. She uses a combination of acrylics, pastels, and Karan d'ache crayons to add shapes, colors, and images to paper, found objects, boards, and hard shelled Lagenaria gourds.

KALEI COLLINS
Stained Glass by Kalei
 The Mane Salon, 212 Main St.
kaleicollins@cox.net

I am a local stained glass artist who has been creating pieces for the past 15 years. I have done pieces for restaurants, schools, churches and individuals. My love for stained glass started as a child. My father was in the navy and we spent a number of years living in Spain which afforded us the opportunity to travel through Europe. I was always drawn to the windows in cathedrals and their elaborate stained glass.

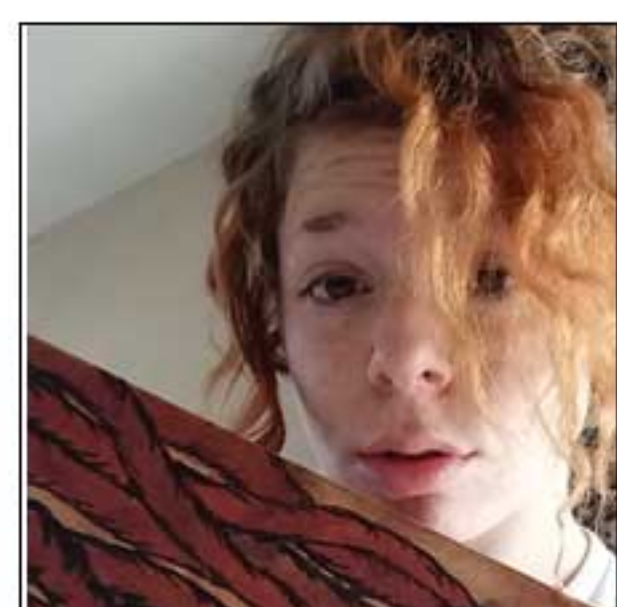

STEPHANIE DAIGLE

Mixed Media : Northern Heron
Ruth's Roots, 130 Court St.

beadedheronbeads@gmail.com

Some of my fondest memories while growing up in Minnesota were spent around the kitchen table with my mother creating beautiful jewelry using everything from Lake Superior Agates to fried marbles. I later took up sewing clothes with just fabric and no patterns as I learned from working for a dressmaker during high school and then I took a turn at bead weaving, which led me down my current path of soft glass sculpture. I began my glass journey with a plan to make my own beads to use in my creations but I rarely do that anymore. Soft glass sculpture has challenged me and I accepted that journey, which is continuing. I still find solace in bead weaving, because after all, if it has a hole in it, it is a bead!

MARLENE DANIELLE

Mixed Media : Red Gypsy Tree
Wikoff Architects, 144 Main St.

redgypsytree@gmail.com

Welcome all of you rays of light, I'm Marlee! I'm a 17 year old self taught artist that has been swimming in the oceans of creativity and expressive mediums ever since I can remember. As a child, I would invent worlds through stories I told to anyone who stopped to listen, and growing up that just reinforced my love for creative writing and poetry. I've had a few works published and one poem recorded over the radio. Painting and sketching began to grow on me, and I haven't put a brush down since. My proudest moment was seeing a piece of mine in the Surrender show at Smith and Lens, and I aspire to have my own exhibit debuted one day.

LEANNA GARCIA

Paint : Leanna G

PJ's/Creole Creamery, 209 Main St.

leannacrawley1@gmail.com

I am an oil and acrylic artist that is drawn to painting more abstract pieces inspired by nature and my gulf coast home.

HOLLY GARVIN

Mixed Media/ Gyotaku
Mockingbird Café, 110 S. 2nd St.

mermaidingmediums@gmail.com

Painting is an exciting escape where I can let go and discover new possibilities. I work in a variety of mediums and constantly explore new textures and styles. I make my artwork bold and colorful with just the right amount of pizzazz. I am inspired by the sea and have always lived a rocks throw away from the water. Most of my work incorporate sea creatures, fish rubbings, and nautical charts. I hope my artwork brings brushstrokes of color to your world and it awakens your spirit and inspires you to go deeper into whatever it is that you love.

MARIAN GLASER

Mixed Media
Mockingbird Café, 110 S. 2nd St.

marianology@gmail.com

My name is Marian Glaser and I currently reside in Bay St. Louis. I have always had a great passion for art and creating. Currently, I'm focusing on portraiture with a desire to incorporate a vintage feeling into my work. I also do sculpture work and charcoal drawings. I have taken two years of formal art studies, and am also enrolled in several online workshops, including Watts Atelier.

NICOLE GREEN

Jewelry : Beach Tribe Jewelry
The Mane Salon, 212 Main St.

nfouasnon@gmail.com

I have always been into crafting and creating art. I can remember being as young as 8 years old when my grandmother taught me to cross-stitch, but in 2011 began teaching myself to make jewelry. I love working with tools (especially power tools), color play, and keeping my hands busy. have made all types of jewelry, but have a preference for organic materials such as hemp, leather, copper, gemstones and pearls, as well as nontraditional items, like broken glass. My style is focused on Bohemian and beach themes, incorporating celestial and nautical elements.

RICHARD GULINO

Artisanal Produce
The Mane Salon, 212 Main St.

kaleicollins@cox.net

Vegetables fresh from the field. Pure local honey. Homemade jellies and jams.

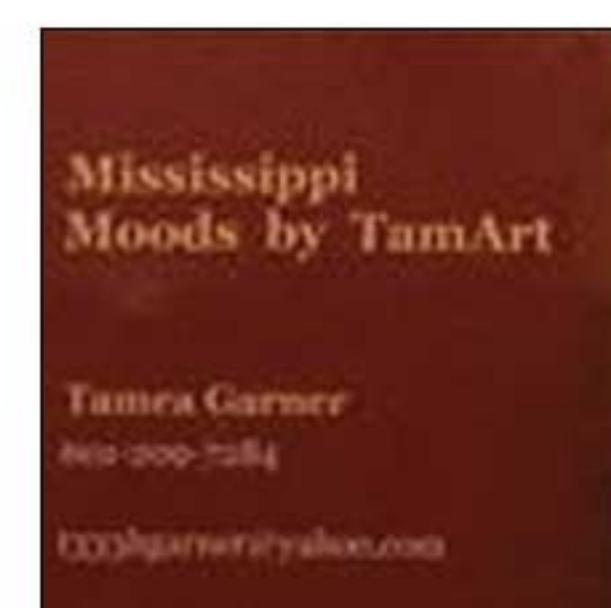

TK HATFIELD

Writer
California Drawstrings, 126 Main St.

tk_hatfield@yahoo.com

T. K. Hatfield recently retired as a US Coast Guard senior officer and now spends her time writing and running her maritime consulting firm. With advanced degrees in environmental planning and management as well as completing the Naval War College, she's now enjoying a slower pace with her husband and pack of rescue dogs between the spicy drama of New Orleans, charming southern ambiance of Bay St. Louise and the relaxing sands of the Florida Panhandle.

TAMRA HEDGEPEETH

Paint : Mississippi Moods by TamArt
The Mane Salon, 212 Main St.

t333hgarner@yahoo.com

Born and raised in Mississippi . I am inspired to paint the many animals, birds and state grown creations. I try to use old wood to recycle for my frames. I have been known to rummage through throw away piles. My art is country/rustic with a touch of artsie.

SCHARONNE HERRINGTON

Mixed Media
Magnolia Antiques, 200 Main St.

scharonne1996@aim.com

I started drawing and painting as a child. Under the mentorship of Joseph Pearson, I began to explore airbrush and acrylic paint on canvas. I love painting in bright colors. I draw inspiration for my work from artists Christian Reese Lassen and David Wyland and music; old school hip-hop and jazz.

JIM HOBSON

GERALD HOWARD

Metal : Metal Art Sculptures by G
Century Hall Hot Zone, 112 S. 2nd St.
photo2269@yahoo.com

Gerald is a native of New Orleans and a lot of his work is influenced by that city's unique architecture and culture. He is a self taught artist who started exploring his creative side by making sculptures using copper wire. One of his first sculptures was accepted in a juried art show at Studio Waveland in Waveland Mississippi and gave him the confidence needed to continue exploring ways to express his vision of art. While still making wire sculptures, he is also creating visual art pieces using old wooden windows, stained glass, epoxy resin and miscellaneous repurposed materials.

DORIS INGLE

Oil Painting : DorisIngle.com
Social Chair, 201 Main St.
dorisingle@gmail.com

thomasjacksonartmusic@gmail.com

I am a graphic artist and singer/songwriter based out of Hattiesburg, Ms. I work with oil pastels, pencil, ink, acrylic paint and the iPad pencil in procreate. I'm inspired by 19th century Impressionism and 20th century comic books.

EPAUL JULIEN

Mixed Media
Mockingbird Café, 110 S. 2nd St.
epauljulien@gmail.com

Epaul Julien is a self taught artist who began his career as a fine art photographer in 1995 when a near death experience changed his life forever. When Hurricane Katrina struck New Orleans he knew how he was going to navigate the waters. Creating art for him is a necessity and a vital part of his existence. In the wake of Katrina he felt abandoned by his photography as he could not pack his collection of equipment in one day to evacuate from his beloved city. In exile for six months he decided to use images he salvaged from the storm, expression, light, energy, spirit, movement, texture and value to create his new mixed media art.

SOLANGE LEDWITH

Glass : Swamp Girl Glass Blowing LLC
Century Hall Hot Zone, 112 S. 2nd St.
swampgirlglass@gmail.com

In 2018, Solange launched her business, 'Swamp Girl Glass Blowing' where she is enabled to continue her own designs as well as offer classes to the public. Solange is able to provide private lessons, create-your-own classes, and mixed media art courses to her community and surrounding homeschool groups. Her core foundation remains fond of the delicate aesthetics of precision glass and has found a new way of combining that with more colorful and playful designs.

ANN MADDEN

Photography & Mixed Media
Smith & Lens, 106 S. 2nd St.
dinwiddiedesign@gmail.com

Ann Madden's photographs and mixed media pieces have been shown and collected nationwide. She represents herself at Smith & Lens in Bay St. Louis, a gallery she owns with Sandy Maggio. Born and raised in New Orleans, Ann has studied in Paris, DC and New York City. She now splits her time behind the camera between NOLA and the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

SANDY MAGGIO

Silver : Sandy Maggio Jewelry
Smith & Lens, 106 S. 2nd St.
shmaggio@aol.com

As a silversmith and goldsmith, Sandy Maggio designs and hand fabricates hollowware, sculptures and jewelry from precious metals and gemstones. Maggio considers herself an 'old school' smith, casting and forging each component by hand. Working primarily in pure silver and gold, Maggio's award winning metalwork is sold worldwide and her mixed media art has been hung in the Mississippi Museum of Art, The George Ohr Museum of Art, as well as galleries and retail stores. Maggio is co-owner of Smith & Lens Gallery. Society of American silversmiths Society of North American Goldsmiths

JENISE MCCARDELL

Clay : Clay Creations
Clay Creations, 220 Main St. claycreationsllc@yahoo.com

One of the oldest continuously operating businesses in Old Town, Clay Creations is the brainchild of artist Jenise McCardell, who's been fashioning small ceramic sculptures of regional homes, schools and churches along the Gulf Coast since 1980. The business has become a family affair through the years, as McCardell's been joined by her husband, potter Mark Currier and daughter Devon.

STUART MCCLEAN

Clothing
Mockingbird Café, 110 S. 2nd St.
salstubro@msn.com

While in New York, Stuart McClean designed belts for many celebrities and companies like Bloomingdale's. His style is very different; it is recognized by his vibrant color and raised or 3-D effect. Stuart calls his art "Feel Good Art", he says it comes from within his soul and reflects his Trinidad and Carnival spirit. The liveliness of his work just makes you "feel like moving! Stuart creates art that appeals to the masses nationally and internationally, as well as the idiosyncratic art collector.

BOB MCGRAW

Mixed Media

Antique Maison 111 N. 2nd St.

geometer2@gmail.com

Bob McGraw is a professional Santa Claus, a wood carver, a voice artist, and spends much of his time experimenting with artistic forms at the intersection of traditional crafts and technology including CNC woodcarving, laser engraving, and 3D printing. Many of his carvings find inspiration in natural forms, and he has made many carvings from locally sourced materials..

CRAIG MCMILLIN

Clay : Studio McMillin

Century Hall Hot Zone, 112 S. 2nd St.

studiomcmillin@aol.com

Basically self-taught, Craig got his hands in clay in high school, then worked towards his BA in art. After a few years a production pottery, he struck out on his own. After 30 years of making pottery, he still considers the last pot he made his greatest teacher.

CHRISTINE MOSELEY

Gemstones : Studio Eight One Eight
Wikoff Architects, 144 Main St.

mose2576@bellsouth.net

Christine is a native of the Mississippi Gulf Coast and has been crafting wearable art for approximately ten years. The majority of pieces are crafted from high quality gemstones. The studio name comes from Romans 8:18, which is a mantra for the artist. Christine crafts inspirational and one-of-a-kind pieces.

JULIE NELSON

Clay

Gallery 220, 220 Main St.

nelsonpots@gmail.com

Julie Nelson is a ceramic artist who specializes in alternative glazing techniques, including raku and acrylic wash, also known as cold glazing. A resident of Kiln, Mississippi, she has studied with Regan Carney of Bay St. Louis, MS., and was mentored in the art of raku by Joe Bernard of Lacombe, LA. Julie's creations are displayed in area libraries and hospitals. She is represented by the Rutland Street Gallery in Covington, LA. She is a proud member of the Artists of Gallery 220, which she considers her "home" gallery. She belongs to the Lacombe Art Guild and is secretary of the Slidell Art League.

VICKI NIOLET

Mixed Media

Lumberyard, 229 S. 2nd St.

vniolet@earthlink.net

I transform found objects and photographs into assemblages and non-traditional music boxes. My goal is to evoke an emotional response from the viewer, mainly through humor, often with sarcasm, and hopefully with a measure of intellect. By combining two and three dimensional objects with wordplay, and sometimes sound, my pieces need to be closely examined to reveal all the layers. I take my inspiration from Joseph Cornell and Jon Stewart.

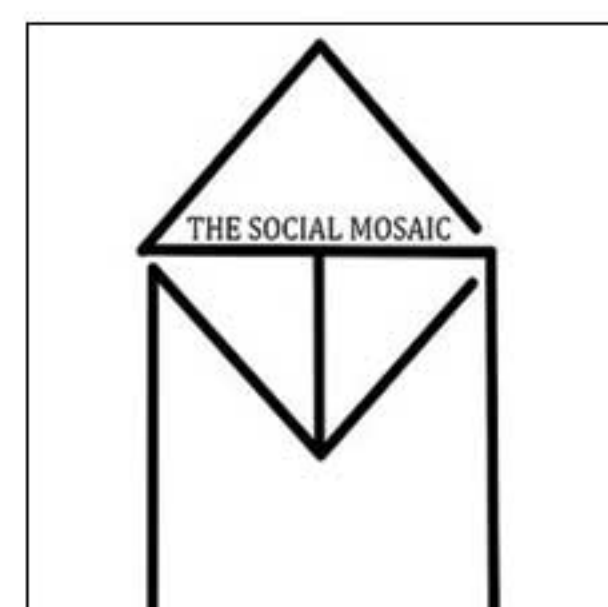

CANDICE O'HARA

Acrylic

PJ's Coffee/Creole Creamery, 209 Main St.

Candiceohara@yahoo.com

I recently got in to my acrylic pours a year ago and I've been absolutely obsessed with it! I'm a high school senior at bay high! Bay St. Louis is my forever home and holds such a special place in my heart! My foster mom is a amazing artist and she showed me how to do my art and now i would love to show others. I'm very involved in my church and they are going on a mission trip to Brazil this summer so I'm trying to raise money. This is perfect to get my name out there and do something incredibly amazing that could change my life!

SHERRY PECKENS

Mixed Media : The Social Mosaic

Mockingbird Café, 110 S. 2nd St..

unity@thesocialmosaic.com

Levi Johnson and Sherry Peckens are local musicians with the flair for tie dye as well. Together, with their children, they create unique and unforgettable music and one of a kind tie dye as a means to promote local music.

romcbsl@gmail.com

The membership of ROMC is comprised of a diverse group of women from artists to scientists of all ages and talents. They all share the common interests of performing in parades and gifting people with the joy of handmade throws. They have become a sensational community force, lending both their time and talents to a variety of causes. ROMC is a member of The Arts, Hancock County, a very supportive organization of local artists and community members.

AL REISZ

Wood : Furniture Works

Makerspace, 2nd & Main Sts.

furnwks@sbcglobal.net

Al Reisz is a writer and creative Woodturner who began his artistic career in 2002 by studying with Tom Dunne, a critically acclaimed turner in New Orleans and later with David Ellsworth, a world recognized artist who has perfected the art of 'hollow woodturning'. Mr. Reisz began turning artistic pieces while a board member of the Slidell Art League and displayed in several SAL shows. His work has won awards as a former member of the Bayou Woodturners of Jefferson, LA and also the Gulfcoast Woodturners in Houston, TX. Of his art he would say like most sculptors that if he looks at a piece of wood long enough he begins to see a form begging to be released.

TAMMY RIDDLE

Paint

California Drawstrings, 126 Main St.

Tammy4545@live.com

I'm an artist. Painting is my main choice of art, but I am interested in all art. I like to paint murals and create art works. I use many techniques to create details to my works, to give them texture and design. I have been interested in the Art community in Hancock county for years and years. I have always wanted to be a part of the Arts. Thank you.

MILO STEPHENS

Mixed Media : AllBottledUpByBre

The Mane Salon, 212 Main St.

Milostephens80911@gmail.com

Milo began painting while living in Louisiana. following a life changing event, Hurricane Katrina in 2005. Like many people in the south during that time, she lost everything. Through a paint brush, she found healing and a new passion she never knew existed inside. Milo works primarily in watercolors with an emphasis on whimsical architecture. She has been awarded the opportunity to show with and meet some of her biggest artist "heroes." Originally from Colorado Springs, Milo has called many states home, and after many years of traveling and exploring, in the Spring of 2015, the deep south is now home.
